

Both Sides Prepare For Today's Test of Srtength in Strike

Operators Predict Many Men Will Return to Work, Perhaps on Open Shop Basis

Lewis Confident

Strike 100 Per Cent Effective and Getting Non-Union Support, He Says

(By the Associated Press)

The second day of the country-wide coal mine strike passed quickly, with both sides preparing for the first test of strength, which is expected today.

Lewis, who maintained that 600,000 men, of whom 100,000 were non-union miners, were idle Saturday and that 6,200 mines were closed, only some 1,500 open shop pits being in operation.

While not discounting these figures, operators, de laud in the case of the strike, would return to work today, as Saturday was observed as a holiday, the operators of the granting of the eight-hour day in the mines. West Virginia operators also were reported promising to reopen unionized mines on an open shop basis.

In the main, however, both sides were expected to observe a tacit truce and make no effort for "the mine being to reopen the mines. The miners are supplying the engineers and men necessary to protect the pits from flooding.

In the main, the eyes of the country will be turned to Washington where John L. Lewis, international president of the miners will appear before a congressional committee to testify regarding the strike. Government officials have held that only the existence of an emergency could justify government intervention and that such an emergency does not exist at this time because of adequate supplies of coal on hand throughout the country.

Reports from most of the unionized fields indicated that Sunday passed quietly as usual in many sections, a cessation from mining to other industries was indicated by reports that thousands were expected to drift from the coal fields affected by the strike during the week.

100 Per Cent Effective Says Lewis

Washington, April 2.—The national coal strike is 100 per cent effective in the unionized territories and is getting support in non-union territories, John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers of America, declared today on his arrival here to attend a congressional hearing tomorrow.

There are 600,000 miners ready to stay out of the mines, he said, and the operators are ready to discuss with us the question of new wages and a 40-hour week in the competitive field, Mr. Lewis declared, adding:

ROOSEVELT'S KIN DIES OF INJURIES

You'll Falls in Path of Taxicab and Municipal Bus; Driver of Latter Detained

New York, April 2.—The mysterious death of Robert F. Roosevelt, Jr., of 150 West 11th street, in Columbus, avenue, Tuesday night was cleared today by police. The victim, a physical director at the Yale club, an ex-football player and a youth full into the street in the path of the taxicab and municipal bus. The police said the driver of the latter was detained.

Mr. Roosevelt was arrested last night. Counsel for the bus driver entered a plea of not guilty when Roosevelt was charged in West side court and sought to have his client released on bail but Municipal Court refused the request with the remark that the driver was traveling on the streets, nowdays is.

Presidents on Zalkin's record according to the police said that the man struck something, while going north on Columbus avenue near 74th street but continued on his way. A woman who boarded the bus at the next corner said to the driver, "My friend struck and killed a man." The driver, according to the police, told her that he had seen a man being carried into a restaurant and took the names of witnesses. He told the police he had endeavored to make a report of the accident to the municipal authorities but could not find the proper official to receive it.

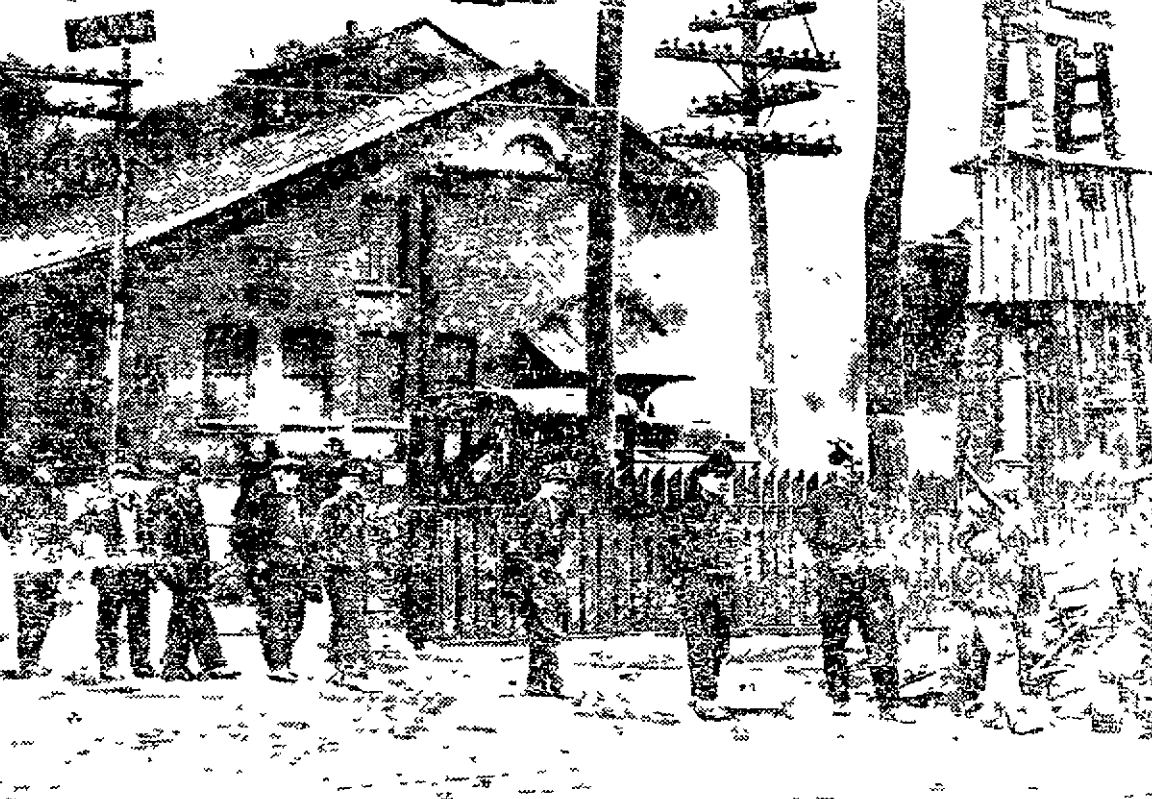

Railmen Name Candidates For Labor Board Position

Chicago, April 2.—Leaders of the country-wide rail strike today named six candidates for the national board of arbitration, which they hope will settle the dispute. The candidates will select one to fill the vacancies on the United States Labor Board created by the recent legislation of Albert Phillips.

The nominations will be sent to President Harding tomorrow. Those nominated are:

John S. G. Spillane, Wash. D. C. president of the clerks union; D. W. Holt, Chicago, international president of the agricultural union; J. J. Larkin, Chicago, grand vice president of the Chicago district of the main union of way union; Timothy Dwyer, New York, president of the firemen and others union; J. J. Taylor, Philadelphia, and C. J. Taylor, Chattanooga, Tenn., both local officers of the telegraphers union.

ROCHESTER MAN MURDERS WIFE

Admits Slaying Her After She Flew From Auto in Which They Were Riding

Rochester, April 2.—The young woman who was shot and killed last night in the doorway of a house in Home Acres, a fashionable last side suburb, was identified today as Irene Dodson, 25, wife of John J. Bott. The identification was made by her brother after the county authorities had questioned every family of Botts living in the city. The only one found on the body was handkerchief bearing the name.

As soon as identification had been made the husband was taken to the county jail, where he was questioned by the sheriff, coroner and district attorney. It developed that the couple had separated on January 14. Bott had been found in bed with them at his mother's home and told the authorities he had not seen his wife since their separation.

After 20 hours, killing Bott late to night confessed that he shot and killed his wife. His confession the authorities say corroborated in its main details the story told by Irene Tremblay, Bott's sister, that after they had hit the automobile he asked his wife to come back to him but that she refused and started to run away from him. He followed her and when she ran into the vestibule of the house he shot her there.

Tremblay said that he drove Mr. and Mrs. Bott to a spot near Home Acres. He said he had an engagement to take Mrs. Bott to a party, and having known Botts previous to her death, he was anxious that he should keep the engagement, but that Bott should hide in the automobile until he reached an outlying spot where he could have a talk with his wife. According to Tremblay the plan was successful. When they arrived at Home Acres, Tremblay left the car on a pretext and Bott revealed himself and began conversation with his wife. They left the car and went toward Home Acres. Tremblay said that he saw the husband and shot him. Mrs. Botts did not return and he drove back to the city alone.

SIAMESE TWINS JOINED AT THE SPINE, X-RAY REVEALS

Chicago, April 2.—The Siamese twins, Josetta and Rosa Hlizek, who died last week after a two weeks' illness at a hospital here were joined at the spine and severing them would have been fatal. X-ray photographs taken after their death are said to show. The pictures it was declared showed a continuous L-shaped spine and also many vital organs in common.

The deaths were due to intestinal obstruction according to George W. Davis, radiographer who made the studies.

CHINATOWN RAIDER SEIZE DRUG CACHE

Arrest White Woman Known as 'Queen of Chinatown' and Her Chinese Husband

New York, April 2.—Raiding an apartment house in Pell street early today, detectives of the narcotic squad arrested a white woman known as Queen of Chinatown and her Chinese husband and seized a quantity of drugs valued at many thousands of dollars, crammed in a secret closet of their expensively furnished place.

Raiders declared they found ten white girls living as the wives of Oriental in the house. The raid revealed they said one of the most important distributing centers for opium in the Chinatown district.

The Queen of Chinatown, when questioned by the narcotic squad, disclosed a marriage with Chong Chu, seven years ago when she was 16. Pretty and expensively attired, she told for Simon she maintained three apartments but denied knowledge of the store of drugs found in the Pell street place. The two were held pending a court hearing.

AUSTRIA'S EXILED MONARCH IS DEAD

Ex-Emperor Charles Passes Away Saturday Morning After Week's Illness of Pneumonia

(By the Associated Press)

Funchal, Madeira, Saturday, April 2.—Charles I, former emperor of Austria and king of Hungary, died here this morning at 11:30. The exiled monarch had been suffering from pneumonia for more than a week.

Charles, who retained consciousness until the last, passed away in the presence of his wife, the former Empress Zita, and their eldest son, Prince Joseph Otto, one-time heir apparent to the throne of Austria-Hungary.

Zita, when the conditions of her husband became critical, desired that the physicians in attendance permit her to undergo the operation of blood transfusion in an effort to save Charles, but the physicians refused their consent.

The body of Charles will be embalmed and the expectation here is that it will be taken back to Austria on burial.

On the announcement of the death of Charles, all the commercial houses in Funchal closed their doors as a token of respect.

BELMONT'S GUESTS DRIVEN FROM ROOMS

Courageous Employees Prevent Panic When Ammonia Fumes Fill New York Hotel

New York, April 2.—Guests at Hotel Belmont, Grand street and Park avenue were obliged to make a hasty exit early today when ammonia fumes filled the hotel as a result of a fire in the machinery in the basement. Many of the occupying rooms on the upper floors had time to fill up only fumes and other light stuff in the lobby for several hours until the apartments began becoming uninhabitable.

In the absence of any official statement, the employees of the hotel, who were on duty at the time, were forced to leave the hotel and the elevator was closed and the doors were locked. The fire was extinguished by the fire department and the hotel was closed for several hours.

CONSTRUCTIVE WEEK
ON STOCK EXCHANGE

Growing Conviction That Fundamental Conditions Are on Rebound Accelerates Market Activity

New York, April 2. — The growing conviction that fundamental conditions are distinctly on the rebound accelerated in large measure another lively and constructive week in the financial and leading commodity markets.

Any doubt of widespread improvement in the general industrial situation seemed to be dispelled by the marked revival of activity in the steel and iron trade and the news that the porphyry copper companies are to resume operations immediately.

Latest transportation reports disclosed a moderate decrease in car loadings, but forecast of March traffic returns of the larger railway systems justify the belief that many of them will show gross and net earnings in excess of the corresponding month of 1921.

Trading in stocks fell slightly below the extensive totals for the two preceding weeks and an unusual proportion of the business was made up of low-grade specialties. Nevertheless, over a score of high records for the past three months were established, chiefly by steels, equipments and affiliated issues.

A feeling akin to optimism prevailed in the investment market.

Except for Friday's flurry, when the rate for call loans rose to 5½ per cent on belated inquiry, the turn in the second quarter of the year was accomplished without unsettlement.

The shadow of the coal strike and spread of labor disturbances in New England seemed to enter only casually into the calculations of professional traders but in banking circles these phases of industrial unrest received more attention.

ELECTROMOTIVE FORCE.

In order to have a flow of water through a pipe it is necessary to produce a pressure somewhere to force the water to flow. This pressure may be created by means of a pump to which the pipe is connected, or it may be created by filling a tank full of water and allowing the water to flow to a lower level through a pipe. In either case the water would stop flowing as soon as the pressure was removed.

Although electricity is not a form of matter, as is water, its action in many cases can be compared to that of water. In order to produce a flow of electric current it is necessary to provide an electrical pressure or electromotive force. Whenever the electromotive force ceases the current also ceases. When the electromotive force does not exist its value is, of course, zero.

There are various ways in which an electromotive force may be produced. Two of the most common practical ways are to produce it by chemical action or by mechanical motion. All batteries, including dry batteries and storage batteries, produce electrical pressure by chemical action. All dynamos, generators and magnetos produce it by the mechanical motion (rotation) of a certain portion of the machine.

Another way to produce electrical pressure is by friction. If a piece of amber is rubbed with a

OSCILLATIONS.

An alternating current of electricity is one which increases and decreases in strength and reverses its direction of flow periodically. It alternates in its direction of flow. If it alternates 120 times every second there are 60 cycles of alternations per second. The frequency of the alternating current in this case is 60 cycles per second. This is a common commercial frequency, but frequencies as high as 500 cycles can be and are daily created by ordinary alternators in radio work.

Radio frequency alternating current is also commonly used in radio work. The frequency may be anywhere between 10,000 and 1,000,000 or more cycles per second. But instead of calling the current a "radio frequency alternating current," a shorter term, "oscillations," is used. If the current rises to the same maximum strength in each direction periodically as long as it is flowing, we have continuous oscillations (abbreviated C. W.). If the maximum strength attained in each direction decreases with each alternation, we have damped oscillations.

NEW INVENTION
AID TO AIRMEN

Records More Accurately the Air Pressure of Certain Surfaces of Planes.

TELLS OF RESULTS ACHIEVED

Important Facts Determined by Use of This Device Will Prove of Great Value to Science of Aeronautics.

Washington.—A new manometer or instrument for recording air pressure on wing and tail surfaces of airplanes at different points simultaneously has been designed and developed by F. H. Norton, an engineer of the Langley Memorial laboratory at Langley field, Virginia, it was announced by the national advisory committee for aeronautics.

The first experiments were undertaken by the laboratory for the navy department in order to determine the distribution of pressure over the horizontal tail surfaces of an airplane and to analyze the relation of this pressure to structural loads and longitudinal stability and were conducted on full-sized planes in the air and on models in the wind tunnels.

Old Method Described. The old method consisted in using a horizontal tail surface inside of which rubber tubes, connected with a series of holes on the surface, led to a multiple liquid manometer. The several tubes of the manometer registered the pressure at each change of speed or air pressure and the results were recorded by an automatic camera which photographed the height of the liquid in the tubes every few seconds.

To study various pressures in accelerated flights or "stunting" it was impossible to use the old liquid manometer and consequently the new manometer was developed, substituting the deflection of metal diaphragms and a means of automatically recording their deflection for the liquid manometer and the camera respectively.

Tells of Results Achieved. Among the results achieved by the investigators are:

That the low average load per square foot on the usual type of tail plane doing steady flight is so small that it could not in any conceivable way cause failure.

That the records taken of the same pressures on tail surfaces in accelerated flights demonstrated that there was no large increase in these forces.

A complete manometer for making pressure distribution tests has been sent to the army air service engineering laboratory at McCook field, Dayton, Ohio, for experiment by army experts.

It was also learned that the Langley laboratory contemplates a further study to ascertain the pressure on different parts of wing and tail surfaces at very high speed, in an effort to learn, if possible, the causes of several accidents which occurred in aviation races, where the planes were making very high speeds and for which no cause has ever been determined.

BLAME WIRELESS FOR SPOOKS

Fire Underwriters See Stations as Explaining Scare in Antigonish County, Nova Scotia.

Halifax, N. S.—The proximity of radio stations is the latest explanation of Antigonish county spooks, which have driven Alex MacDonald and family from home and baffled investigators.

Fire underwriters are discussing suggestions that the mysterious fires have been due to electric phenomena, caused by powerful wireless stations at Glace Bay.

Several other families in Antigonish county are now reported to have been driven from their homes by mysterious fires during the last dozen years.

Inquiries received here indicate a small army of American newspaper men is preparing to follow Dr. Walter Franklin Prince, director of the American Institute for Scientific Research, who has accepted an invitation to undertake an investigation of the mystery.

TOO MUCH OF RABBIT MEAT

War-Time Food is Becoming Unpopular in Berlin and Hutches Are Fast Disappearing.

Berlin.—Germans are turning against the use of tame rabbits as food. Rabbit sausage was a staple of the Teuton table in war time and Germans explain its present unpopularity by saying they had too much of it in that "hunger period."

Millions of tame rabbits were imported from Belgium and Holland by the states and the municipalities, and sold at a nominal cost to the citizens, who established rabbit hutches and bred them to replenish the beef and pork supply in the war.

Berlin alone bought 100,000,000 marks (normal value $20,000,000) worth of rabbits in one order, for which the city is still indebted. Whole trainloads were distributed from 1917 to the middle of the following year. Many families tasted no other meat but rabbit for months, and the sweetish flavor of it palled.

CRUELTY TO ANIMALS

Fred Cook, Hartwick Farmer, Fined $25 for Neglect and Improper Feeding of Cattle—Case a Flagrant One in Opinion of Mrs. Hyde.

Some days ago a complaint was made to Mrs. William T. Hyde, county agent for the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals that Fred Cook, a farmer residing in the town of Hartwick had failed to properly care for some stock belonging to his father. Mrs. Hyde at once investigated and found the stock in bad condition, two of the cows being down and one has since died. The stock were suffering from lack of proper food and care and showed plainly that they had been badly neglected. The treatment of the stock had caused unfavorable comment in the town and Mrs. Hyde considered it a case requiring immediate prosecution.

After consultation with Clements G. Tennant, Esq., of Cooperstown the attorney for the society in Otsego county, Mrs. Hyde laid an information before Justice Frank Berry of Hartwick, charging Cook with a violation of Section 185 of the Penal law. Justice Berry issued a warrant for the arrest of Cook and he was apprehended by Sergeant John Cunningham of the State Police and arraigned before Justice Berry at Hartwick on March 27th. Cook pleaded guilty to the offense and was fined $25 or twenty-five days imprisonment in the Otsego county jail. The justice also impressed Cook with the very serious nature of his offense, calling his attention to the fact that under existing laws, dumb animals must be properly cared for and not neglected and ill treated. Cook paid the fine and it is hoped that in the future he will have better regard for the laws of the state.

The action of Justice Berry in this case has been generally approved by the citizens of Hartwick. Mrs. Hyde is to be commended for her activities in this case. It shows that the Otsego county society and its officers are on the job and that those who ill treat dumb animals who can't help themselves will be prosecuted to the full extent of the law. The splendid cooperation given Mrs. Hyde in this case by Sergeant Cunningham of the State Police is another example of the services rendered by the alert and efficient officer.

MATRIMONY 'AD' FILLS HOUSE

Young Tenor in Rome Uses Ruse to Attract Women Hearers to Opera.

Rome.—Women's love of romance has been utilized for theatrical advertising by the agent of Sig. Umberto Rota, a tenor here. In the personal columns of several Rome newspapers the following appeared: "Man of independent means and handsome appearance desires to marry young woman. Dowry unnecessary. He may be seen in one of the stage boxes at the Adriano theater on Saturday night.—Umberto Rota."

At the performance the theater was sold out to women of all degrees, who kept their gaze fixed not upon the stage, but on the boxes. As the latter remained empty they turned their attention to the program, where they found that Umberto Rota was a young tenor making his debut that evening.

Hail to the Chief.

"At one moment," an afternoon visitor to the lounge of a London hotel writes, "I counted five women powdering their noses; three, were attending to the intricacies of manure; another was tactfully brushing her cheek with rouge, while the majority were puffing away at cigarettes of various shapes and sizes." Did he expect them to be singing a chorus of welcome as he made his entrance, or what?—Westminster Gazette.

Ten Women Organize Fire Company. The first women's fire company in the state has been organized by ten women of Hollywood Terrace, Del. It is an auxiliary of a volunteer company and is to take the men's places if they are at work when an alarm is sounded.

The MARY ROBERTS RINEHART'S
Famous story
GLORIOUS FOOL
DIRECTED BY E. MASON HOPPER A Goldwyn Picture

A delightful story of a wealthy young man who married his nurse ten minutes before he was supposed to die. Five reels of genuine charm.

Nearly everybody who reads has enjoyed at least one of Mary Roberts Rinehart's wonderful hospital stories. 'The Glorious Fool' is perhaps the best known of this group and Goldwyn has made it into a picture with a fine cast. Helene Chadwick and Richard Dix, two young players who have won a big following, play the leading roles in this unusual comedy.

Come On Over

Rupert Hughes

Directed by Alfred E. Greene

Who wouldn't love her?

Shame did—but he lost jobs so fast he couldn't send for her.

Then she arrived without notice—and found her sweetheart meeting another girl at the priest's.

Maybe it didn't get her "Irish" up.

It's the funniest thing Hughes has written—it's homely, and human.

LOCAL MENTION.

—Domesetter Sweet, of Utica arrived in the city last night to be here for his regular date at the Windsor hotel today.

—Five marriage licenses were issued at the city clerk's office during the month of March. During the same period 11 hunting licenses were granted.

—Despite unfavorable weather conditions, $38 was realized at the Woman's Relief corps supper on Saturday evening. Much praise was heard for the quality of the repast.

—The 35c supper served by the ladies of the Main Street Baptist church on Saturday evening was very well attended and netted a tidy sum. The supper was of the high quality always provided by the church women.

—It has been suggested that persons throw out bread crumbs and seeds for the birds which are arriving daily in ever increasing numbers. With snow covering the ground, it is hard picking for the feathered folk and the act suggested would prove a deed of kindness.

—Saturday, "April Fools' day," was unusually quiet in the city so far as outward manifestations of the spirit commonly associated with the occasion are concerned. Practical jokes and jokers no doubt abounded but there were no "sells" perpetrated of such magnitude as to deserve mention.

SUNDAY SCHOOL OFFICERS

Will be Installed With Appropriate Program at First Presbyterian Church
The First Presbyterian Sunday school, at its regular Sunday session, elected the following officers for the new school year, which commenced yesterday:

There are a few of the programs of the recent banquet which may be procured at the club rooms if any member desires one of them.

Meeting of the Shakespeare class this afternoon at 4 o'clock. All members are urged to be present.

The meetings of the French class have been discontinued.

Bids Submitted for Park Fence

Bids for construction of the fence around the baseball park in Oneonta were opened at a meeting of the board of park commissioners held Saturday afternoon, but due to the absence of some of the commissioners no action was taken by the board. A special meeting of the board will be held Wednesday evening at which time the contract for the work will be awarded. There were two bidders, the Architectural Concrete Products company and Fred D. Angelillo, both of this city. Both bids, although slightly higher than City Engineer Gurney's estimate, were within the ten per cent allowance authorized.

Everything in Readiness For the Big Elks' Fair

New Home on Main Street Converted Into Veritable Wonderland; World Tour Will Take Traveler to Famous Lands; Amazing Accuracy of Detail

"All aboard! Elks' Transcontinental Limited, Track Four. All aboard for California, first stop in the World Tour." When the station attendant, in stentorian tones that will penetrate to every part of the mammoth display, gives the above announcement at a o'clock this evening, the great Elks' fair, that event for which preparations have been made for weeks and towards which the thoughts of all have been directed, will have started. It is true that at 5 o'clock the Elks' fair, F. Gallagher and his corps of assistants will commence serving the delicious lunch which will be a nightly feature of the fair, but things will not really be off to a flying start until the first train starts at 6 o'clock. A Star representative took an advance trip around the world yesterday and was amazed at what he saw. "Some job" was his comment, and some job it has been. You can't construct a dozen countries in a day and many days of hard work have been spent by the "Elks" in perfecting the details which will make the tour a dollar worth of rare and beautiful importations have arrived and been placed on display. The primers, moguls and famous figures of fact and fiction who are to preside in the various countries, including Captain Kidd, the Keeper of the Sultan's Harem, the chief of the country of Kaiser, Will (not Billy), Prince Charming of the Royal Court of France, the Supreme Jester to the Court of Spain, and many others, were smuggled into the city yesterday and are fast becoming acclimated.

The interior of the Elks' home will be a place of beauty tonight. With elaborate paintings, tapestries and decorative devices of every description, the various rooms have been transformed into imitations of famous places in the countries represented with a fidelity that will amaze those who have seen the originals. Lou Sherwood has painted the majority of the elaborate scenes and has outdone himself. Some of the sets represent days of painstaking toil and are worthy of preservation as real works of art. No pains or expense have been spared to secure accuracy of detail and the results are sure to astound the traveler as he makes his way from country to country. Thousands of dollars have been spent in securing articles for sale and the assortment is large and varied and reasonably priced.

The entertainment features have not been neglected and will be of an entirely novel and unusual character. "One hundred original novelties" read the advertisements, and no one who knows will deny the accuracy of that statement. Refreshment and entertainment will be found at every hand. The fair will be held evenings only, the only afternoon features being the auctions, which will be held from the club house porch beginning Tuesday night at 7 o'clock.

Each evening, beginning at 6 o'clock, dinner will be served in the spacious dining room, which, with flags and streamers of purple and white paper has been converted into a veritable fairland. Later in the evening the orchestra will be the order of things. The first train will leave the terminal, which, in appointments, leaves nothing to be desired, at 6 o'clock, and trains will run thereafter at ten minute intervals. California will be the first country visited. Then a steamer will be taken to Hawaii and the beach at Waikiki, with sand and everything. Thence the tour extends to Treasure Island, Japan, Italy, Turkey, where a wonderful display of oriental rugs and lamps will be on display; Holland, France, Spain, and thence to Cuba, the scene of the tour. A description of Cuba would serve no purpose—it must be visited to be appreciated.

When questioned last evening concerning the rumor that the 10th infantry, N. Y. N. G., of which Company G is a unit, would be called into service by the federal government and sent to patrol the regions where the coal strike is in progress, Captain Louis M. Baker stated that he had heard no word about the subject and that he did not much doubt the possibility of the local company being called for strike duty. Captain Baker doubted the accuracy of the statement from Elmira that Company L of that city, also in the 10th, was being prepared for duty.

It is reported that the Pennsylvania State Constabulary is being mobilized in the mine regions and that the railroads are assembling forces of guards at various points. Six men were added to the D. & H. police force in Oneonta yesterday and went on duty for the first time last evening patrolling the shops and yards and guarding the huge piles of coal. They will relieve members of the regular force who will be sent to the mining regions for riot duty.

The strike has caused no undue alarm among dealers and householders in the city. The dealers have large stocks on hand and have been free to do a general retail trade. The coal has not had any effect on the coal trade and has in their colliers a sufficient stock to tide them over until winter weather.

NORMAL GLEE CLUB CONCERT

Program of Annual Entertainment Tuesday With Miss Greene Director.

On Tuesday afternoon at three o'clock the Glee club of the Oneonta Normal school will give its annual concert under direction of Miss Greene. The public is most cordially invited to attend. The club will present a varied and interesting program, including compositions by Grieg, Rimsky-Korsakof and Rachmannof; and the final number will be a beautiful setting by Edith Lang of Jean Ingeow's well-known poem, "The Shepherd Lady." This arrangement is in cantata form and Miss Josephine Lauren will sing the solo part. Miss H. Gladys Rogers will play the accompaniments for all the Glee club numbers. The complete program will be as follows:

The latest in miniature radio sets has been devised by Henry Lovison, a fifteen-year-old high school boy of Norwood, Ohio, who has made a tiny radio set which fits into a watch case. All he needs is a head-piece, ground and aerial wires and he can hear anywhere. His range is a large one, considering the size of the instrument. He has heard as far east as Pittsburgh and as far west as Texas. The picture shows Henry receiving a message with his tiny apparatus.

MANY CHANGES IMPENDING

Among Pastors of the Oneonta District at the Annual Session of the Wyoming Conference of the Methodist Church Commencing Wednesday at Endicott.

More than the usual number of changes in pastors on the Oneonta district of the Methodist church are to be made at the session of the Wyoming conference which opens on Wednesday morning at the Endicott church and will close on Monday next. There are at least 12 churches where changes are impending and these will necessitate other changes so that moving will be the vogue among the preachers of the district.

This will be brought about in part by the retirement from the work of three of the older men, including Rev. J. C. Johnson of the Elm Park church of this city, Rev. N. B. Hille of Milford and Rev. Dr. T. F. Hall of Fly Creek charge, and of the temporary retirement of Rev. C. B. Henry of Worcester, who leaves his pastorate to engage in the work of the Lord's Day alliance. This leaves four desirable pulpits open for new men, and others will be made vacant to supply men for these pulpits.

Rev. Dr. James A. Hensley, superintendent of the Oneonta district, will leave some time on Tuesday, probably in time to attend a meeting of the Bishop's cabinet, quite likely to be held Tuesday evening. Rev. Dr. B. M. Johns will be detained here until Wednesday evening by reason of the funeral of one of the younger members of his parish, Sherman Linnaberry, whose death is noticed elsewhere in this issue. Other vicar ministers will quite likely leave on Tuesday evening or Wednesday morning at the latest.

An interesting and profitable session of the conference is expected with numerous speakers from away announced. Bishop Joseph F. Derry of Philadelphia is expected to attend and speak at one or more sessions of the conference. William H. Anderson of the Anti-Saloon league is also announced to attend the temperance rally and deliver one of his characteristic addresses.

It is not improbable that a number of the laymen of the district will attend the Laymen's association meeting on Friday and possibly remain over the week-end sessions of the conference.

Card of Thanks.

I wish to thank the Sunshine class, Home Department, and Ladies' Aid of the M. E. church, also my friends and neighbors for their many kindnesses, during my long sickness, and those who remembered me on my birthday.

DOING EFFICIENT WORK

Monthly Report of Miss Bertha Poston, Secretary of Family Social Work Organization. Evidences Much Good Accomplished.

The following report of Miss Bertha Poston, secretary of the Family Social Work association for the month of March, will be read with interest:

The Family Social Work association now has in charge 146 cases. Of this number, 124 were carried over from February, 14 are new, and 8 old. We closed none during the month, but carried over inactive 47. This means that the organization performed some service for 99 different families during the month.

Besides these 146 active cases, there was one out of town inquiry to be answered and six reports received. Of the cases under care, 6 were received by personal application, 5 reported by individuals, 4 by the Oneonta police dept., 1 by the D. & H. police department, 2 by the County Tuberculosis nurse, and three were incidental to the other work of the organization.

In addition to this, the secretary of the association chaperoned the girls at four dances at the Oneonta Dancing academy, was at home to the girls on two Sunday afternoons at Community House, gave a kitchen shower to one of the girls who recently married, arranged for two girls to attend the Pled Piper at the Oneonta theatre, and helped with the first party for the women who have so little recreation.

Three women more or less handicapped, have been placed in positions during the month. Arrangements are under way for sending two crippled children to the state hospital. We now have 11 girls and 5 boys on probation, who were formally paroled from the courts on suspended sentences, but there are 55 other girls who are under supervision.

During the month of March we have taken in $91.10 in a special fund for special purposes. Of this amount, $19.55 was received from relatives, $5.00 from a girl in custody, $29.00 from the families themselves, $1.55 from the girls to help with refreshments at the parties, and $5.00 loaned to a woman was returned.

A few months ago a young girl was reported to the Family Social Work association by the police. She was a runaway from home and was living under deplorable conditions here. She was found to be suffering from a venereal disease and had to have treatment. As soon as she was in a condition to work, a position was found for her. Her work is in care for two small boys. To the delight of everyone concerned, she is showing marked talent for the work and is dependable and helpful in many ways. Recently the family where she is employed were all sick and our girl assumed the burden of their care and the whole of the house work. There has been no word of complaint from her though she has had to work very hard. She is developing into a sweet attractive girl, is dressing becomingly and tastefully. She is truly repaying every effort to help her and is one of the comforts of a sometimes discouraged social worker.

Bertha Poston, secretary.

Dr. James H. Robinson, Beloved Delhi Pastor, Enters Eternal Rest

Commenced Long and Useful Service to Community on July 1, 1863; Eye Not Dimmed Nor Natural Force Abated Despite Advanced Years

Delhi, April 2.—Delhi's grand old man, Rev. James H. Robinson, D. D., pastor emeritus of the First Presbyterian church of this village, passed quietly from his earthly home to the heavenly one, when God stooped to draw the tired spirit to Himself at 11 o'clock this morning.

Dr. Robinson had been in his usual health until about a week since, when he was taken with a severe chill which later developed into pneumonia. Two years ago, in Philadelphia, he battled with the same disease and had overcome it, but this time, though tender care of loving hands and the earnest prayers of the community bravely struggled to combat it, yet it seemed from the first that the Lord had need of this worthy man in His kingdom.

James H. Robinson was born in Arkville, Washington county, on February 22, 1835. The son of Alexander Proudfoot Robinson an Argyll farmer, and for 50 years an elder in the Presbyterian church at that place. He received a good academic education in the surrounding schools, and later attended Union college, from where he was graduated with the class of 1859. Four years were spent in the theological seminary at Allegheny, Pa. During the year 1863, while he was pursuing the studies of his closing year in the seminary, a signal was made to him from Delhi, coming from the committee of supply of the First Presbyterian church. After carefully laying aside other plans, he decided to heed that call, riding in a stage from the city of Cobleskill for 25 hours, arriving at Delhi at 3 o'clock in the morning and spending the remainder of the night at the Edgerton house. The following day, the third Sunday in April of the same year, and being a clear, sunny day, he went down to the old Plate church about a mile and a half below this village and preached to 47 persons, using as his message, "Behold, the Lamb of God."

His Early Pastorate.

Dr. Robinson was a man of small stature and as he walked down the aisle of the old church that Sunday morning, a woman was heard to say, "If I had known that such a little man was going to preach for us today, I would have stayed at home." Before the service was over she had become a great admirer of the preacher and during his pastorate scarcely missed a service. The church building at that time bore evidence of long service, having been built in 1811. The auditorium had a gallery on three sides and furnished seating for about 275 persons. It was heated by two large wood stoves, one on each side of the entrance door, with pipes running the full length of the church. About two months later, Dr. Robinson consented to return to Delhi for a period of six months, little dreaming that that six months was to determine the locality and character of his entire ministerial work.

He commenced his long and useful pastorate on July 1, 1863, and year in and year out, he was the earnest preacher filling his pulpit, the faithful shepherd feeding his flock, the alert watchman taking the oversight of souls, the energetic minister serving his congregation by the will of God, until the year 1910, when this venerable man of God completed a 47-year pastorate. At the end of this pastorate, it could be said of him, as was said of Moses at an advanced age, this his eye was not dimmed nor his natural force abated.

Fortieth Anniversary Celebrated.

In 1903, the fortieth anniversary of Dr. Robinson's pastorate was celebrated with appropriate exercises. On July 5, 6 and 7, in the church on Clinton street, the anniversary was held. On the Sunday morning of July 5, the anniversary sermon was preached.

DEATHS

Sherman Linnaberry.

Sherman Linnaberry, son of Mr. and Mrs. Annie Linnaberry of 14 Gilbert street, died at the family home Sunday afternoon at 2:45 o'clock after a week's illness of pneumonia, aged 14 years. The young man was born in Oneonta and was a student at the Chestnut street school. The funeral services are to be held Wednesday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock from the residence. Rev. B. M. Johns of the First Methodist church, of which church and Sunday school the deceased was a student, will officiate and internment will be in the Plains cemetery. Surviving him in addition to the parents, are two brothers, Lawrence and George, both residing at home. Sherman was well liked by his associates and the family will have the sympathy of all friends in their sorrow.

HONOR LATE JUDGE BARNUM. Committee Named by Bar Association to Draft Resolutions.

At a well attended meeting of the Oneonta Bar association held Saturday afternoon at supreme court chambers a committee, consisting of Hon. George L. Boakes, Edson A. Hayward, Henry Shove, Owen C. Becker and Justice A. L. Kellogg, was named to draft suitable resolutions upon the death of the late Judge James W. Barnum of Cherry Valley, whose sudden death the evening previous was noted in The Star of Saturday. It is expected that a delegation representing the bar of the city will attend the funeral which is to be held on Tuesday at 2 o'clock. Arrangements were also made to forward a floral emblem as a token of the affectionate regard in which the deceased is held by his associates of the bar of Otsego county.

Funeral on Tuesday.

The funeral of the late Judge James W. Barnum of Cherry Valley is to be held at that place on Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock. It is expected that a delegation of Oneonta attorneys will attend.

AUSTRIAN PRESIDENT TAKES 'DRY' STAND

In Message to Methodist Conference, He Urges America to "Stand by Prohibition"

Poughkeepsie, April 2.—A message from President J. M. Hainisch of Austria urging America to stand by prohibition was presented today by Dr. Clarence True Wilson, general secretary of the Board of Temperance, Prohibition and Public Morals of the Methodist Episcopal church, in an address on the work of that board abroad, before the New York Conference of denomination. Dr. True, terming Dr. Hainisch an aggressive prohibitionist "who has taken a bolder stand on the destruction of the liquor traffic than the head of any nation on earth," described a movement for a dry Austria and told a story of the Austrian executive's "drink-smoke house," a result of his mother's teachings reinforced by three kronen a week given him to abstain from alcohol and narcotics.

President Hainisch wrote and signed the following communication, said Dr. True, "My message to America is this: Stand by prohibition, enforce the law, because in proportion as you enforce it there will be a decrease in criminality, pauperism, insanity and other things that make for ill in human society. I regard the 18th amendment to the federal constitution of the United States as one of the greatest and most far-reaching pieces of legislation ever enacted by any nation of the civilized world. We are thankful to America for the help she is giving us in providing food for starving children, and to the Methodist Board of Temperance, Prohibition and Public Morals for the help it is giving us in furnishing means for the extermination of facts relative to intoxicating liquor."

Dr. True added that ten Austrians, with Dr. Hainisch in the chair, had organized an executive committee of the Methodist Board of Temperance while seated around the table where an Austrian cabinet had prepared the ultimatum to Serbia which started the World War.

"Dr. Hainisch said to our representative, Virgil C. Hinshaw, "Dr. True continued, "Yes, I stand for prohibition of all intoxicating beverages. This position is nothing new with me. My early teachings were such that I could not well do otherwise. My mother gave me three kronen a week from the time I was a boy until I was a man to abstain from alcohol and narcotics. I saved my money and bought a house. Now when I take my friends to that house I tell them that it is my drink-smoke house."

The president added, "Austria should do something of a bold nature to extricate herself from debt. We have issued 55,000,000,000 kronen of paper money. Our chief assets are

OCCUPIES METHODIST PULPIT

Rev. Mr. Case of Millbrook Preaches Powerful Sermon at M. E. Church. The pulpit at the First Methodist church was filled last evening by Rev. Mr. Case, pastor of the Methodist church in Millbrook, in the New York conference. Taking as his subject that portion of scriptures, which refers to the invitation given to Jesus by Herod to visit the royal court and which he refused, choosing rather to go into the desert with his disciples. Mr. Case preached a powerful sermon on the tendency of mortals to prefer the pleasure and whims of the flesh to the callings of the spirit. He called attention to the fact that Christ had the character to say "No" to an invitation promising pleasure and comfort to himself and his disciples that he might go into the open spaces, there to find communion with God and inspiration with which to imbue his disciples. During his stay in the city Rev. Mr. Case as the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Berton Todd, 52 Cedar street.

MARRIAGES

Vosburgh—Cortright. Richard Vosburgh and Miss Lula Mae Cortright, both of this city, were united in marriage at the personage of the First Methodist church Saturday evening at 7 o'clock by Rev. Dr. E. M. Johns. The couple were attended by Mrs. Harold Gorton and Irving Whitmarsh. Mr. Vosburgh is an employee of the D. & H. company and they will reside here.

a fertile soil and an earnest and industrious people. If we can add the virtue of sobriety, with the savings that will result therefrom, we will be 100 per cent better able to meet the world's demands and to put Austria on her feet."

"Associated with Dr. Hainisch in the prohibition movement are Anton Holzl, leader of the Socialist unit in Parliament; Chancellor Lowenthal; four hospital physicians, including the treasurer of the Austria medical association; Dr. Joseph Longo, president of the agricultural college; the leader in the Blue Cross; the head of the Catholic Abstinence association and the superintendent of the Methodist church in Austria.

"A similar movement was organized in Czechoslovakia, where the president signed our call to his people officially as president of the republic. The board also maintains offices in Chile, Mexico and France, has made preparation for activity in Korea, sent money to Japan and is supporting a literature campaign in India."

MILK FIGHT SETTLES DOWN TO STRUGGLE TO SECURE COOPERATION OF NON-POOLERS

No New Developments in Struggle Between Distributors and Newly Organized League Co-Operative Association—Latter Seeks to Secure Agreement to Market Only Pooled Milk—Dealers Assert That They Cannot Discriminate and Will Act Independently—Milk All Being Handled, Without Loss So Far As Reported—Attitude of Non-Poolers May Determine the Outcome.

So far as can be learned here there are no new developments in the contest between the members of the New York Milk Conference board, or the New York distributors and the Dairyman's League Co-operative association which on April 1st succeeded in fact the Dairyman's League, the latter organization having ceased to function as a selling organization for milk producers.

When the new co-operative association demanded that the distributors who secured the milk of the organization agree to give preference to that date to pooled-milk and to agree practically not to handle the milk of non-poolers, many of the distributors withdrew from the negotiations with the Co-operative association and announced that they would purchase milk of all comers and pay them directly and not recognize the new organization.

The claim of the distributors who commencing April 1st are handling non-pooled milk is that the proposal of the Co-operative association required them to pay one set of producers more than would be paid to other producers. The dealers assert that their attorneys advise them that such a course on their part might be construed as an illegal combination in restraint of trade, and that while provisions may have been made to exempt milk producers from the prohibition of such a law no exemption has been granted to the milk distributors.

After the "Non-Poolers." There is little doubt that the new move of the League officials in organizing the Co-operative association is part of a plan to force the non-poolers into the organization or prevent their sharing in the benefits which the organization has secured for the producers. For weeks the Borden company, which has signed up with the Co-operative association, has been urging all in their territories to sign up with the pooling agreement.

Officers of the new association are holding meetings at all important centers and urging the producers to get together and use all honorable means to get the non-poolers into the new organization. Speakers caution the poolers not to use force or in any way violate the moral code or antagonize the non-poolers.

At one of these meetings a speaker announced that the dealers who refuse to handle only pooled milk will be given 30 days in which to change their plans and stated that after that period they would be black-listed and never again be permitted to handle pooled milk.

Figures Disagree.

While the distributors in the Milk Conference board are asserting that only one of the large distributors in that city has agreed to handle only pooled milk, the figures given out by the Co-operative association is that of the 120 New York dealers operating 645 milk plants, 74, operating 226 plants, have signed Dairyman's League Co-operative association contracts.

There are in addition to these 30 plants operated by the Co-operative association itself.

Situation Not Fully Developed.

The situation is not sufficiently developed to indicate what will be the outcome. The dealers assert that they will have sufficient milk to supply all their trade in the metropolis. Locally there is little friction. The producers supplying the Oneonta Dairy company are paid League prices, but are being paid directly, and no change has been made.

H. M. Rowe of the Nestle company, in the city the latter part of last week, in discussing the situation, declared that his company is not vitally concerned. We have never had an agreement with the league, because it demanded that we pay more for the milk that we manufactured than the league itself paid for milk it manufactured in competition with us, which condition no concern that desired to survive could consider. We shall continue to pay the same prices in April that we paid in March, which was more than the poolers netted in cash. We have consented to take over the milk of non-poolers in this section and hope to be able to care for all who desire to come to us. We are not shipping of fluid milk to New York, but if any of our supply is desired by dealers there it will probably be supplied them.

"Quiet Along U. & D."

The following statement of the situation along the U. & D., a big milk producing section, was made yesterday by a correspondent closely in touch with the Sheffield Farms company:

There was no "milk war" along the Uster and Delaware railroad Saturday and yesterday. Everything was quiet. The Dairyman's League Co-operative association and the distributing companies that had not signed to buy April league milk, followed carefully laid plans. Members of the Co-operative association's pooling plan withheld their milk from the Sheffield Farms company and other non-signing distributing companies. The distributors got all the non-pool milk, which was increased to some extent by the milk of pool members withdrawing from the Co-operative association in February, the withdrawals becoming effective April 1. A careful estimate made by one distributor, following the withdrawals, showed, The Star is informed, that "pool milk" constitutes only about 20 per cent of all the milk produced along and immediately contiguous to the U. & D. road. This would leave 80 per cent of the milk available to non-signing distributors.

The Dairyman's League Co-operative association took a lease Friday last for two months of the Delaware and Green cemetery at Arkville. This plant has been closed for about a year, following bankruptcy. Charles A. Sanford of Margaretville, formerly of Oneonta, is the trustee. Friday night a large force was put to work in this plant, opening it up and getting the machinery in shape for operation. A "Dairyman's League Milk Car" was started at Davenport Center Saturday morning, attached to the regular east bound milk train, and this picked up all pool milk along the line of the Arkville plant. This car will run daily. It is stated that something over 500 tons of milk were received yesterday at this plant from points along the U. & D. and the territory contiguous to the plant. It is doubtful if an attempt will be made to ship any pool milk from along the U. & D. into New York city. Lack of sufficient runs and ice is given as the reason. All milk received at the Arkville plant will be manufactured into butter. It is said by the league official in charge. The distributing companies operating along the U. & D. that remain independent of the League Co-operative association, advise The Star in reply to inquiries that they are entirely satisfied with the situation. At the offices of the Sheffield Farms company at Hobart, which company is by far the largest company operating along the U. & D., it was stated that its New York orders were filled Saturday and Sunday 100 per cent. "We are getting all the milk we want," said the office manager. The statement was made that the company had taken on in two days about thirty grade A dairies, other than grade A and grade B dairies withdrawing from the pool. The company has, it was said, a large waiting list of grade B dairies, ready to deliver milk, which have not been taken on because of the existing surplus in that grade.

THE BURROUGHS PROGRAM

Unveiling of Memorial Tablet on Home Farm at Roxbury This Afternoon.

Today is the anniversary alike of the birth and burial of John Burroughs, poet and naturalist, and in commemoration of it the Burroughs tablet will be unveiled with appropriate ceremonial at the Boyhood Rock on the Old Home farm near Roxbury. Many prominent men will be in attendance, among them Thomas A. Edison, Harry S. Firestone and Henry Ford, the latter lately purchased the Burroughs farm and through his efforts the homestead will be preserved for future generations, and the exercises will begin at 2:30 p. m. and a general invitation to the public to be present is extended. The program in full is as follows:

The Unveiling of the Tablet by the grandchildren, Ursula and John Burroughs, accompanied by "Remembrance" (Pinsult). "John Burroughs," poem by Charles Ruxton Golin. Selection from "Intern Abbey" by Wadsworth. "A Tribute to Our Townsman," poem by Elizabeth S. Patterson. Selections from "There Was a Child Went Forth," by Whitman. Remarks by Dr. Frank M. Chapman, president of the John Burroughs Memorial association, with readings from the writings of John Burroughs: "The Bluebird," "The Vesper Sparrow," and "The Song of the Hermit Thrush." "Woodcock are Calling in the Swampy Tonight," poem by Louise Townsend Nicholl. "The Wistful Days," poem by Robert Underwood Johnson. April Selections from "Riverby," "Sings and Seasons," and "Birds and Poets." "Come April," poem by John Russell McCarthy. "The Cradle Song," (Brahms).

After the program the grave will be strewn with wild flowers and other woodland growths sent by absent friends, after which those present will place wild flowers and laurel leaves upon the grave.

The Burroughs' club of Oneonta is a member of the John Burroughs Memorial association, under whose auspices the memorial has been secured and will be dedicated. The annual meeting of this association has been adjourned to April 11 at the Museum of Natural History in New York city, at which time representatives of the Oneonta club have been invited to be present.

An interesting booklet entitled "In Remembrance" has been issued by the association and copies have been sent to affiliating clubs, including that in Oneonta. The booklet includes several selections in prose and verse which were favorites of Mr. Burroughs, also several poems in his memory and selections from the earliest and latest of the writings of the naturalist himself.

The Blazed Trail

WORKERS in the woods frequently find the trail blazed by the axes of those who have gone before. Guided by these marks, they easily find their way.

Advertisements perform a similar duty for you in the important business of spending your money. They point the way to values of which you would never know if they were not there to guide you.

Do you read them? Wise shoppers do. They are the economical buyers—the ones who keep themselves strictly up-to-date on the best opportunities for saving money, or spending it judiciously, which is one and the same thing.

Read the advertisements in this paper. Read them to know what's what in the shopping district. Read them because they place before your eyes a moving panorama of business progress. Read them to save money—to save steps—to save disappointments. Read them because they blaze your trail to satisfaction in your every-day buying.

READ THEM REGULARLY.
